WEALTH TO POVERTY.

A Millionaire Yesterday; a Poor Man Today.

Such is the Condition of O. M. Barnes, Who Sacrificed All to Save His Son's Honor.

LANSING, Mich., April 19.—A millionaire who yesterday did not owe a dollar in the world, is today likely to go broke. This is the paradox in financiering which Lansing presents this morning.

Representatives of the commercial agencies, lawyers and others who have swarmed into the city in consequence of the embarrassments of the Lansing Iron and Engine works, and the Lansing Lumber company describe the situation as one of the most remarkable which has ever come under their observation.

Since January 1 O. M. Barnes has been sacrificing his personal means in an effort to hold up the two big concerns which financial disaster has at last overtaken. Up to yesterday he had paid from his private means obligations incurred by the two corporations aggregating nearly $125,000, and yesterday he pledged the balance of his private fortune for the payment of further liabilities exceeding over $700,000, taking in return the mortgage covering all the property of the two firms.

Mr. Barnes took the action he did to save the credit and business honor of his son, O. F. Barnes, president of both the iron works and the lumber company.

Lansing banking and business circles have never been so rudely shaken in the town's history. Nearly $100,000 of the two firms' paper is held by Lansing banks, the largest holders being the Central Michigan Savings bank, $250,000, and the Ingham County Savings bank, $51,500. Between $65,000 and $70,000 worth of the firms' paper is also held by Detroit banks.

The closing of the Central Michigan Savings bank yesterday afternoon was caused by the lack of confidence resulting when it became known that the institution was weighted down with $300,000 of the insolvent companies' obligations. It was an anxious night at the capitol. Bank directors and leading business men were holding secret conferences in various portions of the town, the directorate of the Ingham County Savings bank continuing in session up to midnight.

There were 100 people outside the Ingham County bank when it opened this morning. Commercial depositors were promptly paid, but the legal three months' notice was required on savings deposits. President Humphrey said confidently that the bank would be able to meet all obligations, but the crowd was uneasy and anxious. At 10 o'clock Bank Commissioner Sherwood made a speech to the crowd in front of the Ingham County bank, and quite a number retired reassured, and there was a perceptible decrease in the withdrawal of deposits. Deposits are being withdrawn from other banks, but at none were there the anxious crowds present as at the Ingham County bank. The statement is given out that O. M. Barnes' private assets, together with the assets of the two embarrassed companies aggregate $1,603,000. Every effort is being made to restore confidence this morning, but there is a panicky feeling in many quarters. Every one ascribes the cause of the trouble to the poor business methods of O. F. Barnes.

UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE.

BRUSSELS, April 19.—The chamber of representatives reassembled after the preparation of the reports on the revision of the constitution and by a vote of 119 against 12 with fourteen absent or abstaining from voting adopted the universal suffrage with a provision for plural voting by the classes owning property, according to the amount and situation of the property.

Cheers within the chamber were followed by a prodigious exclamation from the enormous crowd that awaited the result of the voting outside of the chamber. The greatest enthusiasm was displayed everywhere and the people joined in a jubilee in honor of the great triumph which they had achieved.

The dread of a terrible uprising of the people similar to that of the French revolution in its resistless rage against privilege and power had the effect of bring the chamber of deputies round to popular side. There is no doubt in many minds that if the chamber not acted promptly there would have been a revolution in Brussels.

Yesterday's vote in the chamber of deputies reversing the former action of that body and granting universal suffrage practically as demanded by the workingmen, has completely allayed the agitation among the industrial population. The strikers here, at Antwerp, and other places generally resumed work this morning and no further trouble is apprehended.

New Orleans Fire.

NEW ORLEANS, April 19.—Last evening the Pelican [illegible] was destroyed by fire, also a million feet of lumber with no insurance [illegible] cottages in the vicinity and a pile of [illegible] were also burned. The total loss foots a hundred thousand dollars. The cottages were occupied by [illegible] people who lost all their furniture. George Granmarke, the foreman of the mill, was severely injured by a pile of lumber falling on him.

THE LAFAYETTE CASE.

A Witness Who Says He Saw Clark Shoot.

Banker Peckham Explains the Obligation Assumed by A. P. A. Members Towards Catholics.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 19.—At the opening of court yesterday in the Clark riot case there were not over twenty spectators in the opera chairs. The Clark trial was resumed at 9:20 o'clock with Abram Lucas on the stand, stating that he saw Clark at the opera house on the night of the riot. Louis Kimmel went on the stage with the witness. At the entrance witness saw Clark pointing a revolver at Hendricks and somebody struck him. The morning after the riot he examined the wound on Rudolph's abdomen. On cross-examination witness stated that Clark was struck just above the ear and was staggered. Saw a policeman lead Clark out.

R. M. Johnson testified that he heard shots fired under the stage. Clark stood near the entrance with a revolver in his hand. Heard him say, "God d—you, I'll get even with you for that." None of the policemen were hurt. When Rudolph would attempt to speak, men in the audience would give "cat calls," tell him to "come off" and to shave his whiskers. On cross-examination witness stated that he thought the firing continued two or three minutes. Saw a man strike Clark. When Clark was struck he stood still with his revolver in his hand, and was so standing when the witness last saw him.

Wm. S. Peckham, of the First National bank, was a witness who threw some light upon the much mooted question on what the aims of the American Protective association are as regards the Catholic church.

During the progress of Peckham's cross-examination he was asked if he was not a member of the A. P. A., and responded in the affirmative. Then the question was asked if his oath did not require him to distinguish against Catholics in business, and he replied no. He was requested to designate in what particular his oath as an A. P. A. did antagonize the Catholic church. The state objected to the question, but the witness stated that he had no objection to stating what the grounds of opposition to the Catholic church were, from the A. P. A. standpoint. The court told him he could explain, if he wished. Mr. Peckham, after prefacing his remarks a little, said: "The American Protective Association distinguishes against Catholics on three points, and these only. First, their allegiance to the pope and the Catholic church is superior to their allegiance to the United States; we oppose them politically upon that ground. Also on the ground of their position on the school question, and on the ground of the open Bible. We are opposed to the Catholics upon these three grounds, and these only, and you can't bring anything else in."

Mr. Peckham was asked if his oath did not require an A. P. A. to distinguish against Catholics in business and gave that question an emphatic "no—not in the least."

Another question asked Peckham was, if he contributed any money towards raising funds to push on the prosecution, and he replied that he paid $5. He was asked to fix the time when he gave this money—whether it was before or after the Murphy trial or during its progress. He finally said he was not certain as to this. He thought it was during the Murphy trial but anyhow it was after "we learned that Father Walters had been around with a subscription paper."

ICE DOES DAMAGE.

Railroad Bridge Swept Away in Minnesota.

RED LAKE FALLS, Minn., April 19.—The ice went out of Clear Water river yesterday, taking out the Great Northern railroad bridge. The ice is jammed at the junction of the Red Lake and Clear Water rivers, and the river is overflowing. Houses near the river are vacated. One thousand cords of wood are floating down the river. Two dams are in danger. The ice in the Red Lake river is solid. If this goes out soon all dams and bridges will be in great danger. Telegraph wires on the Great Northern are down. The ice is piled fifteen feet high.

DO THE PROPER THING.

The Supreme Court Have No Time for Junketing.

They Decline Invitations to Attend the Naval Review and the Opening of the World's Fair.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The supreme court of the United States will not attend the naval rendezvous at Hampton Roads. This decision of the court will be a surprise to many who expected to see the judges among the official spectators on the government ships. It may be more of a surprise that the court has decided to decline the invitations to the naval review at New York and to the opening of the world's fair in Chicago as well.

This decision has been arrived at by the justices, with that proper deliberation which marks all their actions. The condition of the business of the supreme court and the inroads upon its work, which these excursions would make, moved the court to its determination to stay at home. The day set for adjournment is next Tuesday and if the justices of the court traveled down to Hampton Roads, a large section would be taken from the little time left for the term.

Although the supreme court justices traveled out to Chicago on the former excursion, they did so after considerable hesitation and with doubt as to the wisdom of the precedent. This was in the nature of an international affair in the eyes of the court, and it was thought best to go. The supreme justices think, however, that the tribunal which they constitute is not such a body that its presence is necessary or to be expected on these festive occasions when the executive and legislative representatives of the government can do the honors. Consequently the invitations were declined.

RAILWAY UNION.

The Institution Organized and Officers Elected.

CHICAGO, April 19.—The American Railway union is now a full fledged institution. The officers of the new federation were elected yesterday. They are President, Eugene V. Debbs; vice president, George W. Howard; secretary, S. Kebber; board of directors, E. V. Debbs, George W. Howard, L. W. Rogers, W. S. Messemer, S. Keliher, Henry Walton, W. H. Sebring, J. A. Clark, F. W. Arnold. The organization, who have been in session since last Tuesday, adjourned last night. They will meet in Chicago on May 23 to complete the constitution and by-laws of the order. After that they will meet in this city on June 20, and will hold a mass meeting in Central Music hall. The nine directors will then enter the field as organizers. Their headquarters will be located in Chicago. The organizers left for their homes last night.

HE IS A FRAUD.

An Apostle of Christian Science Working in New Zealand.

ST. LOUIS, April 19.—A letter from John S. Hosking, a methodist minister at Christ church, New Zealand, states that the world renowned apostle of Christian science faith, A. Bentley Worthington, is located in New Zealand and has drawn together hundreds of believers in the faith. They have converted all their funds into a general treasury and are building educational and religious institutions to the value of over $200,000. The letter also states that Worthington is living with Mrs. Plunkett, who was formerly editor of the International Magazine of Christian Science in New York. It will be remembered that the couple mysteriously disappeared nearly four years ago, since which time nothing has been heard of them. Worthington has a record as a bigamist, no less than eight different women claiming him as a husband.

BURGLARS AT WORK.

The Leading Jewelry Store of Mansfield Robbed.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, April 19.—During last night burglars entered the store of George M. Wilkinson, the leading jeweler of this city, and completely gutted it. They cracked the safe and secured its contents, consisting of over 250 gold watches, a large quantity of diamonds and other valuable jewelry, together with a considerable amount of money. It was the largest and most complete job in the history of this county. The total loss is estimated at over $3,000. There is no clew.

CREMATED ALIVE.

Mother and Two Children Meet a Horrible Death.

CAMBRIDGE, Minn., April 19.—The house of Dan Errickson, of Bradford was burned yesterday, with all the household effects, and the man, his wife and two children were cremated alive. Two of his neighbors had spent part of the day with Errickson, and the three drank liberally of liquor. It is supposed that while attempting to light his pipe in a drunken condition he dropped some fire and was unable to quench it himself. The remainder of the family were sleeping upstairs.

THE KANSAS STRIKE.

The Sheriff Refuses to Give Protection to the Railroad.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 19.—Superintendent Enbralach, of the Santa Fe, visited Sheriff Fallison, of Wyandotte county, Kas., yesterday, and made a formal demand for a force of deputies to protect the company's property at Argentine. The sheriff flatly refused to comply with the request, saying that the deputies would not be forthcoming until he thought protection necessary. The [illegible] back has a force of men seventeen ready to ship in as soon as protection is secured and are much incensed. The company's yards are guarded, but last evening a crowd of strikers gained entrance and made things very warm for the non-union workmen quartered in sleepers in the yards. At a meeting held yesterday, switchmen, firemen and engineers decided not to go out except as a last resort.

WILL THEY NEVER STOP?

Another Deadly Cyclone Sweeps Over Kansas Towns.

Several Lives Lost and Forty Buildings Demolished at Osage City—Other Places Visited.

OSAGE CITY, April 19.—About 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon one of the worst cyclones which ever visited Kansas, struck this city and in a short time forty buildings had been wrecked and several lives lost. About twenty persons were seriously injured, many of whom will probably die. The part of the city which was devastated lies on the south side of the tracks of the Santa Fe and comprises both business and residence buildings.

The names of the victims as far as known are, Dead—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Waggoner, colored. Injured—Joseph Bacon, colored, ribs broken. Two children of Eli Cannon, heads and arms severely injured. D. L. William, back hurt; J. H. Hickard, hip hurt, Mrs. Hickard, arm broken; Miss Hickard, head hurt, Mrs. Minnie Mahey, arm broken; Mrs. A. Gardner, badly bruised; child of Nels Nelson, seriously hurt, child of N. R. Larron, badly scalded. Evan Morgan, Nel Nelson, Emile Gorgia, Mrs. Simon, hurt in head; child of John Swanson, scalp cut, and generally bruised.

Fully 100 houses, barns and stores in the suburbs were completely demolished. Telegraph and telephone lines are all down and the streets are lined with debris. The damage is estimated at $50,000.

OSAWATOMIE, Kas., was also in the path of the cyclone, a terrible hail storm occurring at 6 p. m. Houses were flooded from the torrents of rain, windows broken and several barns and small buildings blown down.

LANDON, Kas., April 19.—A cyclone here last night blew down the court house and jail and the Methodist church, killing Henry Hirsch, who was standing on a street corner.

IN CONSULTATION.

Lake Shore Engineers Hold a Meeting at Toledo.

A Strike Will Be the Result of the Refusal of the Company to Reinstate Seven Engineers.

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 19.—Some twenty-five engineers, members of the advisory board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, are meeting here today to take final action in the Lake Shore trouble arising from the Ann Arbor strike. The members of the board have been cautioned not to divulge anything to the press and are consequently dumb. The Lake Shore engineers who lost their positions by quitting when asked to handle boycotted freight have requested to be reinstated. As yet no definite answer has been given them by the Lake Shore officials. The advisory board, it is said, is here to take action to hurry up that answer. The meeting was held in Toledo, instead of Cleveland, where the head officials of the Lake Shore are located, for the reason that Chief Arthur is also located there and it is intended to show that Chief Arthur's presence is not required to allow the brotherhood to take final action on any important matter. A member of the board, after giving evasive answers on various points, said that the board might finish its work today. "As yet," he said, "we have not heard officially or otherwise what the Lake Shore is going to do. We will probably hear this afternoon." The result of the meeting, of course, depends entirely on the stand to be taken by the Lake Shore. If the company refuses to take back the old men a general strike is threatened.

A QUEER CARCASS

In a Slaughter House Proves to be the Body of Charles Heitteberg.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 19.—Charles W. Heiteberg, manager of the St. Louis Dressed Beef and Provision company, committed suicide at 6 o'clock this morning by hanging himself in the slaughter house at the company's place of business. The cause of the act was despondency.

MILLIONAIRE DEAD.

NEW YORK, April 19.—John Laffert, of Flatbush, L. I., millionaire and member of banking and trust institutions, died suddenly while out driving last night of heart disease, aged sixty-seven. He leaves a widow and seven children. His estate is valued at over $1,000,000.

New Steamship Line.

NEW YORK, April 19.—A new steamship line under the direction of the North German Lloyd has been started and the first steamer of the service will arrive here in a few days. The project has in view the more perfect handling of emigrants and freight and [illegible] cabin passengers will be carried [illegible] Two steamers will be operated at first and they will ply only between here and Bremen.

HOOSIERS ABROAD.

Our Washington Correspondent Tells About Them.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Mr. Charles M. Schlecholz, cashier of the Plant Milling company, of St. Louis, is in Washington as a heavily indorsed applicant for the collectorship of internal revenue for this district. He saw Secretary Carlisle yesterday and presented his papers. He is very confident and will leave for home today. It is a place to which the Germans seem to have a sort of racial right. Its present incumbent is of that persuasion. His name is Wennick and it is believed that he will be removed without scruple as soon as a good successor can be found, as he came into national prominence last fall through heavy political assessment laid upon his employes.

Hon. Samuel Bench, of Fort Wayne, Ind., who is well known in Washington, had held a responsible position in the law department of the treasury under Mr. Cleveland's former administration, is at the Windsor. Judge Bench has represented Allen county in the legislature during the past few years, and as the champion of the coemployes' bill which passed at the last session, won the gratitude of the workingmen of the state. He is strongly indorsed for the position of solicitor of the internal revenue department, and it is believed will receive the appointment.

It appears to be a settled thing that Richard Dalton, of Rawles county, Mo., will be appointed to the powerful and lucrative office of collector of customs for the port of St. Louis. His papers are still in Mr. Carlisle's desk, not having yet been sent over to the white house, but it is said they will be sent over today and the appointment will follow in short order. There were charges preferred against Mr. Dalton, but they were chiefly anonymous, and little attention was paid to them. The fact that he is not a resident of St. Louis has set on edge several sets of teeth belonging to Missourians, who claim that the home rule plank of the national platform has once more undergone a violent fracture. The office controls more patronage and can be made of greater general good or harm to the party than any other in the state, not excepting the St. Louis postoffice. Mr. Dalton is about the only case that has not developed a contest between the Francis and Stone factions. The leaders of both wings united in his endorsement.

Judge Taylor, special counsel to prosecute the case against the Bell Telephone company on behalf of the government for the annulment of the Berleiner patent, left for Fort Wayne yesterday. The Berleiner patent was granted last winter by Harrison's commissioner of patents, Simond, and its effect is to prolong the Bell telephone monopoly seventeen years, unless the United States court annuls it. The government will try to prove that Simond was in the employ of the Bell Telephone company. It is said that this case will net Judge Taylor a fee of at least $25,000, and in view of its importance he will resign the Mississippi river commissionership, realizing that he cannot hold two federal appointments and receive pay for both.

Editor S. E. Morss, of Indianapolis, has left the city for New York. He will be back here Friday and will go from here to Indianapolis. He will not sail for Paris until about June 1, as it will be impossible to arrange his editorial and business interests so that they can be left before early in June. It may be stated as official that none of the Hoosiers will accompany Mr. Morss to Paris. It seems that there is no appointment at his disposal. The state department has provided for all places in the consul general's office.

Editor J. G. Shanklin, of Evansville, seems to have left his case here without an advocate. His name is seldom heard in Washington. As soon as he got out of the city Senator Turpie, for whom he did so much, forgot the past, and until Editor Morss arrived no one took the pains to speak up for Shanklin. Morss and Shanklin are the best of friends, and the Indianapolis editor will do all he can to have his Evansville colleague recognized by the administration.

Today Postmaster General Bissell ordered Mr. Maxwell to lay aside his ax for a few days, during which time no fourth-class postmasters will be appointed except to fill vacancies. When this order reached the office of the fourth assistant postmaster general the Maxwell ax was ready to drop on seventeen Indiana republican postmasters. They were saved.

WILL STAY WITH US.

Rev. J. V. Updike to Remain as Pastor of the Christian Church.

Some two weeks ago Rev. J. V. Updike, the pastor of the Christian church in this city, resigned his charge to enter the evangelistic work in which he had been engaged before he came here. He had intended to enter this work on the 1st of May, but last Monday evening an official meeting of the church board was held and he was prevailed upon to remain as pastor of the church here for a term of five years.

Rev. Updike is an active, enthusiastic church worker, an entertaining pulpit orator and has largely increased the membership of the church since he has been here. His many friends will be glad to learn that he has concluded to remain in the city.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

The Testimony in the Phillips Murder Case is Finished.

Attorneys Are Making the Arguments. Will C. Ryan Opening for the Prosecution.

The Phillips murder case, which has been on trial in the circuit court for the last three days is rapidly drawing to a close and will go the jury some time tomorrow.

The prisoner, John Phillips, who was put on the stand yesterday afternoon as a witness in his own behalf was called again this morning and his cross examination continued.

In his testimony, Phillips detailed his acquaintance with Green which began about a year ago, when they had a talk about his objection to Green coming to his house to see his sister, Ann. At that time the trouble between the two began, and the next night they had a fight in the yard in which Phillips was worsted. He afterwards threatened to kill me and my father, said the prisoner, and also brutally treated my sister. I borrowed a gun to kill a horse, that night Budd Green came to our house, my sister anticipated trouble and slept up stairs, after dark I heard a noise at the east window; entering the bed room I saw Green at the window; I called at him to go away, he said, "if I get in I'll kill you and your father;" as he was climbing through the window I shot him. I believed if he got in he would kill us, I knew Budd Green's character and only meant to defend my home my father and my sister.

On cross-examination by State's Attorney Colerick Mr. Phillips, who is not bright, contradicted himself in many important particulars and could not remember what he said to his attorneys.

After the examination of several witnesses the defense closed and the prosecution began its rebuttal without, however, bringing out any new points of interest.

At 2 o'clock the evidence was all in and Deputy Prosecutor Will C. Ryan made the opening speech for the state. His effort was an eloquent and brilliant one. He will be followed by Clarence Edsall, J. B. Bittenger and Henry Colerick for the prisoner, and Prosecuting Attorney Phil B. Colerick will close for the state.

QUITE SENSATIONAL.

They Say She Was Compelled to Escape From Dr. Thayer's Office By a Window.

The Wabash Plain Dealer of yesterday prints a two column article relative to the Kelso girl. A portion of the article, however, does not speak in glowing terms of Doctor Thayer. "The young lady mentioned," says the Plain Dealer, "is Miss Dora Kelso, about eighteen years of age and an orphan who lived north of the city, and against whom not a breath of suspicion ever raised until this unfortunate occurrence. Her lover is Tim Kinerk, who also lives north of the city.

Miss Dora and Tim went to Fort Wayne and a contract was drawn up to the effect that the young lady was to have every care needed, that she was to be tenderly nursed during her sickness; that the child was to be given a good home immediately and that the mother was not to see it, in payment whereof Dr. Thayer was to receive $100. The young lady's nearest relatives supposed she was visiting in Ohio until a letter was received asking if Dora had returned home safely. The inquiry created a suspicion in the mind of the relative and he immediately began an investigation. On learning of the girl's whereabouts he went to Fort Wayne and had an interview with her and the doctor and was satisfied that, under the circumstances, the best plan had been mapped out.

The child was born and when the girl had sufficiently recovered she wrote for her lover to come after her, which he did, but Dr. Thayer refused to allow her to leave the hospital. Although the contract was made with young Kinerk, the doctor claimed that he had no business with him and wanted to see the Wabash relative. Miss Kelso made her escape from the hospital, and the next morning, before she could get away from the city, she was arrested.

THE RELATIVE ARRIVES.

The Wabash relative heard the state of affairs and took matters in his own hands. He went to Fort Wayne, had an interview with Dr. Thayer and demanded the surrender of the girl. The doctor stated that he would give the girl up provided he would pay him $300. This of course, he flatly refused to do, but stated that in view of the circumstances, and in consideration of entire secrecy on the part of the doctor he would make him a present of $[illegible].

The doctor then agreed to give the girl up in case the relative paid him $[illegible]. The proposition was also declined. The young lady's relative seeing that there could not [illegible] come to terms [illegible] and left the house. Before going, however, he told Dr. Thayer that he would return in just three hours, prepared to take the girl with him.

At the appointed time the relative arrived at the hospital. There was no response to his [illegible] the door [illegible] found that it was locked, and he [illegible] with her parents noticed that the windows were locked and nailed down. He called the young lady's name and she answered from within. When he told her to pull out the nails, hoist the window and climb out she replied, "I am afraid he will kill me," meaning, it is supposed, the doctor. The relative, who is a wiry man, told her to draw the nail, hoist the window and come out, and if the doctor dared to lay hands on her he would protect her. No one was visible about the house, and it is not known whether the doctor was within or not. He made no further attempt to detain the girl. She and her relative came to Wabash and immediately proceeded to Roann, where she is being taken care of by loving friends. Neither she or her relatives have any knowledge of what became of the child.

Miss Kelso states that when she first went to the hospital, about the middle of February, she was the only inmate, but a short time afterwards, five other girls in the same condition as herself came there. She says that instead of the good nursing contracted for, the girls were compelled to do the cooking and wait upon one another. She further states that she was compelled to lie in her sick clothes until she was able to get up and dress herself."

STILL ANOTHER BABY.

A Little Stranger Picked Up on Superior Street.

This One Proves to Be a Girl and May Be the Missing Kelso Child—Quite Amusing.

Another stray baby has turned up, this time on Superior street. Several evenings ago Mr. and Mrs. David Brown found a pretty little girl baby on their door step, and having no children of their own, at once took the little stranger into their house and have been taking good care of it ever since. They said nothing about the affair to any of the authorities, as they were anxious to keep the child. Dr. Frederick Thayer, who has a sort of a mechanic's lien upon the Kelso baby, was seen this morning, and when asked if the child found on Superior street was Mrs. Kelso's, would not commit himself. He said he hadn't seen the baby since last night, and didn't know where it was this morning.

The baby boy found on Phil Hines' doorstep at 6 Short street, will not be adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lotz after all. Officer Schlaudroff, of the Humane society, had left the child at the Lotz house, 69 Huffman street, and they expected to adopt and raise the child. Yesterday there was a hitch between them and Mr. Hines about furnishing apparel for the babe. Mr. Hines said they wanted a whole trunkful of clothes thrown in with the nursling and he did not feel that he should give its wearing apparel, as he was relinquishing all claims to it, so he took it back to his own home. He will probably adopt it.

SPOKE NOT A WORD.

A Singular Law Case Tried in the Court of Justice France.

The Parties to the Suit and All the Witnesses Were Deaf and Dumb and It was a Provoke Case.

A singular law suit and the first of its kind ever tried in the courts of Allen county was heard in the court of Justice Harry France this morning—the parties to the suit and the three witnesses being deaf and dumb.

The case was one brought on the complaint of Miss Belle Nimts against Lewis Bergman for provoke, she alleging that the defendant had called her a "chippie."

The case was tried without a lawyer, the prosecutor and his deputy being engaged at the circuit court in the trial of the Phillips murder case. Not a word was uttered by the court or the parties or the witnesses, the testimony being taken partly in writing and partly in the deaf and dumb language, with which Justice France is not only familiar but is very proficient.

The three deaf and dumb witnesses for the state were Daniel Schmoel, Frederick Plummer and Ollie Miller. The prosecuting witness and the defendant testified in their behalf and the court, after listening to their arguments in the deaf and dumb language and weighing the law and the evidence in the case, acquitted the defendant.

The two parties to the suit reside on Lohn street, in this city, and are well known.

STRANGELY MISSING.

Charles Brinkman Leaves His Washington Street Home.

He Wrote a Note Stating That It Was God's Will That He Should Go—A Sad Case.

Charles Brinkman, of No. 325 West Washington street, has been strangely missing from his home since 4 o'clock yesterday morning. The police have searched every nook and corner of the city, his friends and relatives have been untiring in their efforts to find him and circulars minutely describing his appearance have been sent broadcast over the state. A SENTINEL representative called at the house this morning and found Mrs. Christina Walda, mother of the missing young man, nearly prostrated with grief and anxiety over her son. She told the following story:

"It has been Charles' habit to get up early in the morning and build the fires. He always wanted to do such work ever since he was a boy. When he was quite a small lad he had the brain fever and this affected his mind somewhat. He was also accidentally struck on the head with a hatchet by his brother and this, I think, made him worse. Yesterday morning he arose early as has been his usual custom and built the fires and did some light work about the house. When the rest of the family got up shortly afterward he was gone and on the table was a note which he had left. In it he said that he "had to go for it was God's will." Poor boy, I don't know what made him think he had to leave his home. He was always well treated and besides he has been sick for the past six years and has scarcely been outside of the yard. In fact, he never wanted to go out of the house much. Day before yesterday we noticed that he was very uneasy but did not think much of the matter, as he has always been that way for a few days at certain times in the month. When Charley was young he worked for a time at the spoke factory but had to give it up as he was not strong. He is thirty-one years old."

When the young man left home he wore a dark coat and gray pants, with a dark slouch hat. In appearance he is light complexioned, with blue eyes. He is about five feet, eight inches in height, very thin and a trifle stooped.

None of the neighbors saw the young man leave the house or has any trace of him been found anywhere. It is not thought that he would attempt suicide, but rather that he would go to some neighboring town and try and secure employment, but he is too ill and feeble to do any kind of labor but the very lightest. Information as to his whereabouts should be sent to the family or to police headquarters in this city.

LATER.

Word was received at police headquarters late this afternoon that the young man had been found. He had wandered all night in the rain several miles west of the city, and when found was nearly perished from cold and hunger. He did not realize where he was going.

CITY BUILDING.

It Will be Opened to the Public Tomorrow.

The city building will be opened to the public tomorrow between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. and 10 p. m. Has Made Millions.

Millions of men have made hundreds and thousands of millions of dollars from the sale of intoxicating liquors, and now men will make millions of dollars by curing the disease of drunkenness which the sale of these intoxicating liquors engendered in the human family.

This latter at least has been done by Dr. Leslie E. Keeley, the world renowned discoverer of the Keeley cure for the liquor habit, who, during the short time that his remedy has been before the public, has treated thousands of patients and made millions of dollars for himself and his associates in business. Now comes the news that Dr. Keeley has sold his bichloride of gold formula with the right to operate the Dwight plant and to furnish the cure to other institutions throughout the world for $10,000,000.

The purchasers are wealthy eastern capitalists and the new company will be known as the Leslie E. Keeley company. Dr. Keeley will in all probability be president of the new company, but will take little part in its business affairs. He is growing old and welcomes an evening of rest. It is the intention of the new company to establish new institutes wherever needed and extend the business as rapidly as possible.

Ten years ago Dr. Keeley was an obscure physician in the village of Dwight, which, by the outside world, was looked upon as a whistling station on the Chicago and Alton railroad. The doctor was an army surgeon and during ... ties for the union the idea was ... nkenness was a ... of the war, he re... turned to Dwight and soon became the surgeon at that place of the Alton road. Not engaged professionally he experimented in a rudely constructed laboratory on the formula that has since made him famous. Success did not attend him at the start. He scored many failures, but as all successes meet with these reverses he still continued. Success and fortune came at last and the poor country doctor of ten years ago retires from active pursuits famous and many times a millionaire.

The Hawaiian Question.

The United States are at liberty to take the Sandwich islands if that is considered a wise thing to do, and no foreign power can or is likely to object. But the idea that the people of the islands are begging for somebody to come and govern them is the sheerest pretense. The natives and probably most of the foreign-born residents were satisfied, as they were and at least prefer an independent government of some sort. The annexation movement comes entirely from Americans, whose interests would be served by incorporation with the United States, but who have no interest at all in an alliance with any other nation.

These men arranged the revolt against the crown and set up the provisional government with the aid of the naval power of the United States. To put it plainly, they and Mr. Stevens undertook to draw the United States into a forcible seizure of the islands, without any authority from the government at Washington.

If these men cannot maintain a government at home they can have no authority to make a treaty abroad, and we cannot allow ourselves to be drawn into an uncertain enterprise merely to oblige them. The 40,000 educated natives are entitled to some consideration as well as the 2000 American tradesmen and sugar planters, if we are pretending to act under the civilized form of a treaty.

Press Portraits.

The newspaper portrait, although not always a thing of beauty, seems to have become a fixed feature of modern journalism. Upon this subject the Boston Transcript facetiously remarks:

"No one should fail to keep his photograph on hand already for the newspapers. No matter how completely your past life has reflected your opinion that the post of honor is the private station, there is no telling how soon you may be called upon to take a cabinet position or be elected president of a suburban bowling society. And then, if the photograph is not at hand, reporters will lie in wait for you with kodaks, or the recently used woodcut of some escaped convict will be trotted out to do duty for you. Better yield to the inevitable and keep on hand in your desk the photograph of you which makes you look most dignified and distinguished. One far-seeing and modest man went further than this. He had his portrait 'processed' and blocked and carried the cut about with him all the time ready to deliver it to the first reporter who should call upon him at the moment when he should become famous."

IT is reported that near Corrizo Springs, Tex., an oval-topped mound covered with petrified human skulls has been discovered. The mound is circular in form, and about one hundred feet high, and on one side is joined to a short range of hills of about the same height. On the summit, and for some distance down the sloping side, it is covered with what appear to be smooth, spherical bones, which upon close examination prove to be human skulls distorted into grotesque shapes. It is further stated that by removing the loose dirt and sand from the orifices of the face the unmistakable human countenance is revealed. Bones of other classes are also said to be found there, and from all appearances the whole mound is formed of human skulls.

VEGETARIANISM in the United States does not discard the use of a meat diet merely because it is unnecessary or harmful, but also because of the cruelty inflicted on animals by their wholesale slaughter in the catering to the meat-eating habit. This principle is followed logically to its end, and shoes made entirely of felt are largely coming into use among vegetarians. Not only, they claim, does the use of leather necessitate the killing of animals, but it is injurious as a covering for any part of the body, while woolen or felt is a natural and beneficial protection.

INEXTINGUISHABLE and superior to mere material conditions is the charm of the Irishman. Charity physicians down town say that after a dozen visits to the melancholy, grave and embittered Hebrew refugees of that region it is a comfort to encounter the cheerful face of a bed-ridden Irishman. Whatever the surroundings the Irishman is likely to have a smile and a cheery word, while the taciturn Hebrew, undemonstrative, but not ungrateful, seldom betrays any emotion.

IN Table Rock, Neb., the wife of the present postmaster, whose term has about expired, has appealed to the new administration to let the office remain in the family because she is a stalwart democrat. Her case is not unlike one that attracted some attention in England recently. The occupant of a desirable postmastership there was about to be retired because of having reached the age limit and his wife applied for and obtained the place.

CALIFORNIA farmers have no cause of complaint against the present season, as according to all accounts, rain has come with great regularity and the prospects for fruit and grain were never better. The total rainfall for the season in nearly all the counties is over fifteen inches, and in all the northern counties it is over twenty-five inches.

A CITIZEN of Jackson, Mich., the other day wrote a message on the back of a Columbian postage stamp and mailed it. The postmaster is greatly perplexed, as, although a message can be forwarded on a one cent postal card he does not think it lawful for a letter to be sent through the mails written on the back of a stamp.

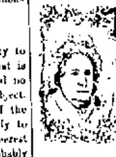

MANY people in this country have of late been very greatly bothered over the pronunciation of the name of the ex-queen of Hawaii. A Nevada paper very cleverly settles the controversy in the statement that "It is not Lee-lee-woka-lanny now, but Dennis."

SACRED TO AMERICA.

THE OLD HOUSE WHERE WASHINGTON WAS BORN.

The Part In Which He Lived and Died Remains Practically Unchanged—A Place Haunted By the Tenderest Memories of a Nation.

[Fredericksburg Correspondence.]

THE AMERICAN pilgrim will, in after days, come up to this high and holy place."

So spoke Andrew Jackson when he laid the foundation stone of the monument that has never been completed to the memory of Mary Washington.

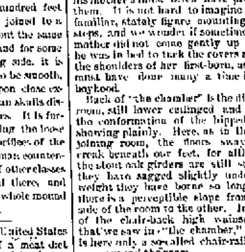

But the American pilgrim of today who visits Fredericksburg seeks first the home where Mary Washington spent the closing years of her life. The only exception to this rule is found when the visitors are veterans of the civil war. These turn first to the old battlefields or to one of the burying grounds where lie the dead of Federal and Confederate armies.

We who come to Fredericksburg today are not looking for anything so modern as scenes connected with the great struggle of thirty years back. We make our way to the old village street, past tumbledown negro houses and dignifiedly shabby old homes of the F. F. Vs, upon more venerable memories intent, and are not to be diverted from our quest of the long, low house where Mary Washington dwelt from 1775 until her death in 1789.

The house seems little altered from what we can imagine it to have been in that long-ago day. The left wing is practically unchanged, and this is the part in which we turn with most interest, for it was here that Mary Washington lived and died. A partition cuts off part of the room that was her chamber. A spacious apartment it was before the division, rather low studded, as it was the custom then to build, but still of proportions to have made it cool and airy in the warm Virginia summer, and to have rendered it necessary to keep a good fire burning in that wide fireplace during the winter. Over in that corner must have stood the four-post bedstead she bequeathed to her son George—the bed in which she lay when he bade her a last farewell on the visit he paid her before he went to New York for his inauguration.

The room occupied by the Father of his Country when he visited his mother is over her chamber. Before the house was altered the stairway ran up from this room, so that George could not go to his chamber at night or quit it in the morning without passing through his mother's apartment. There would have been small chance for him to indulge in late hours under these circumstances even had the well-trained son desired such deviation from the track his mother had started him in and which he trod so soberly.

The old stairs have been moved into the hall now, but we tread them reverently, remembering that his feet and his mother's must often have pressed them. It is not hard to imagine that familiar, stately figure mounting the steps, and we wonder if sometimes his mother did not come gently up after he was in bed to tuck the covers about the shoulders of her first-born, as she must have done many a time in his boyhood.

Back of "the chamber" is the dining-room, still lower ceilinged and with the conformation of the hipped roof showing plainly. Here, as in the adjoining room, the floors sway and creak beneath our feet, for although the stout oak girders are still strong, they have sagged slightly under the weight they have borne so long and there is a perceptible slope from one side of the room to the other. Instead of the chair-back high wainscoting that we saw in "the chamber," there is here only a so-called chair-rail that runs around the room.

And here is the pantry—Mary Washington's pantry! We can picture to ourselves the thrifty dame, busy among her flour, sugar and molasses barrels, giving out to her colored servants the supply of provisions for the day's use and keeping up a running comment, we may be sure, upon necessity for economy in the use thereof. She was not a rich woman, although, with her farm across the river, the big garden surrounding her house, and the cosy cottage itself, she was fairly well provided with this world's goods.

None of the means committed to her were allowed to go to waste. There still lives in Fredericksburg a tradition that when she went down the street upon household errands she always, that she might waste no time, carried her apron full of cotton, and picked it as she walked. Moreover, no one is likely to forget that when Lafayette came to pay her his respects he found her hard at work raking up with her own hands the dry weeds and leaves that had accumulated in her garden.

That same garden is haunted with memories. As we stroll down its bricked walk between the hedges of box planted by Mary Washington's own hands we picture to ourselves the figure clad in work a day clothes, and busy with rake and trowel among her favorite plants. Tradition has it that she set out one or more of the rose-trees that still yearly bear their burden of red roses.

It is not a long walk from here to the burial place. Every one knows that the National Mary Washington Memorial Association intends shortly to erect the long delayed monument to the memory of the mother of Washington. It will also inclose as a park the five acres surrounding the tomb that are already the property of the association. Even with this thought in mind our hearts burn within us at the sight of the ruined shaft that lies on its side of the foundation backed and desecrated by relic-hunting vandals.

We stroll about the little inclosure, our feet brushing through "the long and pleasant grass," and think, as did Shelley of the burying-ground at Rome, that it is "enough to make one in love with death to think of being laid in so sweet a spot." The spreading meadows, the fertile, rolling country, the low line of hills are the same upon which Mary Washington's eyes must often have rested. That stately old house over there is Kenmore, the home of Mary Washington's daughter, the Betty Washington Lewis whose lineal descendants are still living in Fredericksburg.

CHRISTINE HUNTER.

CHARMED BY A SNAKE.

A Tennessean Has a Singular Adventure With a Serpent.

Clarksville Correspondence

J. W. Felts, a prominent and reliable citizen of the adjoining county of Cheatham, relates the following extraordinary story of the unaccountable influence exerted upon him by a rattlesnake a short time ago. In his own language the story is as follows:

I started out one day in company with a colored man to cut some timber, having a measuring pole in hand, the negro carrying an ax. After a time we separated, and I had not gone far before I noticed a large rattlesnake in the path ahead of me. Apparently we discovered each other about the same time, and both stopped. My first thought was to kill the reptile, but he at once threw himself into a coil, and I concluded, as the space around was open and not fearing his escape, to wait and see what the snake would do. I was soon intently watching his movements. He cut up more antics than I had ever seen performed by a snake.

To me it was a picture well calculated to attract and rivet attention, and my purpose of destruction was soon forgotten. Ere I was aware of it I stood, or rather stooped, spellbound, as if transfixed to the spot, without the power of speaking or moving, save in obedience to the will of my captor. I felt the distance between us continually lessening, and, although I was conscious of my perilous position, I seemed powerless to change it, and what may seem to be more strange, had no desire to do so, only to approach nearer the object that, under different circumstances, would have been one of terror rather than attraction. I knew we were nearing each other, but how I could not tell, not being conscious of moving, and the snake seemed to occupy the same position relatively as at first.

I only know that in the beginning I stood erect. Now I was in a kneeling position, my body inclining forward, my right hand extended, gradually nearing the snake, not in a straight line, but oscillating, and at each movement lessening the distance. From the first moment that I caught the eyes of the reptile there seemed a line extending from each of his eyes to mine about the size of ordinary sewing thread, which seemed to exert a power over me sufficient to hold me in the first position and make me subservient to his will.

How long I remained in this position I know not. The colored man becoming uneasy at my prolonged absence commenced calling me. I could distinctly hear him, but had no power to answer. Finally searching for me he found me in the attitude described. He again called to me, but as before, I paid no attention to him. Then he came nearer and discovered the huge reptile within a few feet of me coiled for the deadly spring, my right hand within a few inches of his mouth, each gazing intently into the other's eyes. He comprehended the situation at once, took hold of me violently and threw me backward from the snake, thus partially breaking the spell. No effort was made by the snake to escape. The negro at once killed the snake, while I all the time was begging him not to do so. It measured about 6 feet in length and 11 inches in circumference and had eight rattles.

I was so completely under the influence of the snake that I could not shake it off, nor, in fact, had any disposition to do so. The hallucination was not only pleasant, but exhilarating, and there was only lacking one undefinable something I could not tell what, but it seemed almost within my grasp—to make my happiness complete. So powerful was the effect upon my system that I was stricken down with a severe spell of sickness.

ATHLETIC.

The race for the southern countie junior cross country championship came off at Epsom, England, the starting point being just outside the Epsom Downs station instead of a little above Tattenham Corner, as was the case last season. Of the thirty teams that entered only one was missing when they were called to their stations. The weather and traveling were both good, and the course was nearly ten miles in length. The team victory rested with the Stoke Newington Harriers, with 144 points. Widcombe Institute Harriers, second, 190 points; Tunbridge Wells Harriers third, 196 points; Cotswold Harriers fourth, 264 points. The individual winner was J. Webb of the Widcombe Harriers, in 59m. 14s.; T. Pavey, Bristol Harriers, second, in 59m. 61⁄4s.; A. H. Summers, Widcombe Harriers, third, in 1m. 8 4-5s.; P. Caiger, Epsom Harriers, fifth, in 1m. 29 3-5s.; H. Johnston, Portsmouth Harriers, sixth, in 1m. 29 3-15.

Frank Smith of Sydney, N. S. W., the owner of the Sir Joseph Banks Grounds at Botany Bay and the Alhambra Theater at the Haymarket, died last month from internal hemorrhage, aged 50 years. He was a native of Sydney, and after he had established the Sir Joseph Banks Grounds, which he made from a piece of bush land, pedestrianism developed to a marvelous extent in the Colonies, the prize money for one of the numerous handicaps which he instituted reaching $4,000. It cost him $125,000 to bring the place to its present condition, but he made plenty of money there.

The Pastime Athletic Association of Manhattan College has been reorganized for the season with the following officers: President, James F. O'Brien; Vice-President, David A. McCarthy; Recording Secretary, John F. Roche; Corresponding Secretary, Eugene F. McGinnis; Treasurer, Edwin S. Gleason; Manager, George M. Knight.

The Arcadia Athletic Association of Brooklyn, N. Y., have elected the following officers: President, James Fitzgerald; Vice-President, M. J. Brophy; Treasurer, Thomas P. Loughran; Recording Secretary, Robert L. Rainer; Financial Secretary, David Snell; Captain, Augustus Pererelle; First Lieutenant, Arthur R. Seward; Second Lieutenant, Harry J. Flatte.

The annual international football match, under association rules, between the picked teams of England and Ireland, came off at Birmingham, England, and was witnessed by fully 10,000 persons. The result was in favor of England by a score of 6 goals to 1.

FISTIC CONTEST.

A Large Crowd and the Receipts Quite a Neat Sum.

The slugging exhibition at Schroeder's hall last evening proved to be a success, at least financially. The attendance was large and $150 was netted over and above expenses. Scotty McFeegan and a Grand Rapids man named Bond first indulged in a six round sparring match. McFeegan seemed to be the best man, but the contest was decided a draw. Quealey and Jimmy Doyle then had a six round match. Quealey was heavy and Doyle was light and the difference was very noticeable. The third was a six round contest by Fred Miller against Louis Ganser. It was a spirited contest from start to finish, and there was no decision by the referee. The police were on hand and everything moved off as quietly as a strawberry festival. J. S. Hubbard was referee and Chris Brown acted as time keeper, and a brother of Tim acted as master of ceremonies. The wind up was a twenty round contest between Quealey and Mike Coakley, of Chicago, and Joe O'Rourke and Jimmie Doyle, of this city. The pairs fought round about, three minutes each, one pair resting while the other couple sparred. The whole twenty rounds were fought and a great deal of scientific work was shown. The decisions as to who were the better men were left to the audience, as the whole affair was friendly.

Moses Price Cured of Rheumatism.

The many cases of rheumatism cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm during the past few months have given the people great confidence in its curative properties, and have shown that there is one preparation that can be depended upon for that painful and aggravating disease. Hunnaker Bros, Lorain Ohio say. "Mr. Moses Price, of this place, was troubled with rheumatism for a long time. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has cured him. He says that the Balm has no equal." Can be counted on to cure Catarrh—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It's nothing new. For 25 years it has been doing that very thing. It gives prompt and complete relief—but you want more than that. And you get it, with this Remedy—there's a cure that is perfect and permanent. The worst chronic cases, no matter of how long standing, yield to its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties. "Cold in the Head" needs but a few applications. Catarrhal Headache, and all the troubles that come from Catarrh, are at once relieved and cured.

You can count on something else, too—$500 in cash.

You can count on it, but it's more than doubtful whether you can get it.

The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Remedy, in good faith, offer that amount for an incurable case of Catarrh. Don't think that you have one, though. They'll pay you, if they can't cure you. That's certain.

But they can cure you. That's just about as certain, too. Can you ask more?

Every person applying at the Stackhouse Medical Institute for consultation or treatment may be assured of seeing either Dr. Stackhouse or his distinguished associate, Dr. Orion K. Thomson. All patients are thus given the benefit of the years of experience, careful training and superior skill of these physicians.

Dr. Urbine Stackhouse is a graduate of the Medical College of Indiana, where he was valedictorian of his class. He has been house physician of the Indianapolis City Hospital, a student of the New York Polyclinic and his diploma also bears the written endorsement of Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia. Dr. Stackhouse is licensed to practice medicine in twelve states and most of the great cities in the Union.

Dr. Orion K. Thomson, late of Boston, Mass., is a graduate of the Miami Medical College, the Medical Department of the University of Cincinnati, was a student of the New York Polyclinic and other New York institutions devoted to the higher branches of medicine, and has been years in special practice. Dr. Thomson is an active member of the American Association of Expert Specialists, a society that admits to membership only those physicians of Europe and America who have distinguished themselves as specialists.

DR. U. STACKHOUSE.

WILL YOU HAVE TO HURT ME?

Positive and Direct Answer to a Question Frequently Asked.

Every day, among those who come to consult the specialists of the Stackhouse Medical Institute, many begin the interview with this question, "Doctor, will you have to hurt me very bad to cure me?"

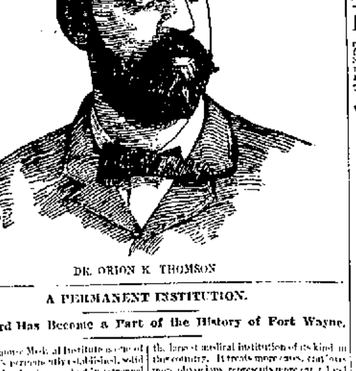

Let us once more state emphatically that there is no method of treatment for catarrh and allied diseases used on the face of the earth that is so uniformly mild, pleasant and painless as the Stackhouse treatment.

We recognize and deplore the fact that among nose and throat specialists, as a class, there is at present, what may justly be termed a "craze" for operating. It has grown to such an extent that every patient, no matter how mild a case of catarrh he may have, is subject to the tortures of red-hot wires heated by high power electric batteries; or is compelled, under one pretense and another, to have the delicate, sensitive membranes of his nose and throat, burned with acids, sawed, gouged, bored and drilled, causing excruciating pain.

The whole theory upon which this plan of treatment is based, is radically wrong. If viewed from a common sense standpoint, it will be at once condemned by thinking people.

Catarrh is an inflammatory disease. The membranes affected are the most delicate and sensitive of the body. If you had an external inflammation and a badly swollen condition of the hand or arm and the doctor should come to your house and propose to sear the member with red-hot wires, or burn it with acids, or saw or cut off the enlarged part, you would very promptly and very properly show him to the door. Yet many persons who recognize the cruelty, barbarity and uselessness of such treatment, when applied externally, will for a long time submit to just this kind of treatment, provided it is indulged inside the nose or throat, which, as remarked above, are more tender and delicate by far than the outer covering of the body.

DR. ORION K. THOMSON.

A PERMANENT INSTITUTION.

Its Record Has Become a Part of the History of Fort Wayne.

The Stackhouse Medical Institute is one of Fort Wayne's permanently established, solid and reliable institutions so highly esteemed and so widely and favorably known through the vast numbers of cures effected, that it has become inseparably identified with the city's history.

Years ago it became necessary to establish one or more of the Institutes in other cities, and today the Stackhouse Medical Institute is the largest medical institution of its kind in the country. It treats more cases, employs more physicians, represents more capital and effects more cures than any similar institution.

In every state in the Union, in every county of Indiana, in every township in Allen county, on every street in Fort Wayne can be found willing witnesses who testify to wonderful benefits derived from the Stackhouse treatment.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS.

The Cause of the Santa Fe Labor Troubles.

Accidents, Incidents and Personal Mention of the People About the Railway Centers.

A telegram from Topeka, Kas., quotes a "railroad man" as saying: "The strike of the Santa Fe employes, inaugurated in Topeka a week ago was the beginning of a trouble which is to test the relative strength of the rail roads and organized labor all over the country. It is now the understanding of the men that the real reason their contract was not signed by the Santa Fe was on account of an agreement recently entered into by the general managers' and presidents' association of all the railroads in the country to sign no more contracts with organized labor, as they said, for their own protection. This agreement was entered into by all the roads in the United Sates at a meeting held in Chicago about the time President Manvel died, and we reach our conclusions about the action taken at the meeting from an article written immediately after the meeting by President J. G. Clark, of the Mobile and Ohio. The latter was published in the Railway Age and the writer proved form his standpoint that railroads must combine to defeat organized labor or, as he said, to meet organized labor. Many of the roads, including the Santa Fe, have contracts with other organizations than ours, and it is the understanding of the men that these contracts are to be annulled at the earliest possible moment."

F. X. Miller, blacksmith in the Pittsburg shops, was taken sick while at work this morning and was compelled to return home

After a two weeks siege with the mumps, Alonzo Schwank this morning resumed his position in the winding room at the electric light works.

H. A. Niepoth has returned from Detroit, where he last week attended the funeral of his father. Mr. Niepoth is a machinist, employed by the Wabash company.

Conductor T. E. Harper and family have moved from Fort Wayne to Bellevue, Ohio, on account of Mr. Harper taking a passenger run on the Nickel Plate road.

Theodore Kucher, assistant gang foreman, erecting department, in the Pittsburg machine shop, went to Chicago last night to show his brother around the city.

George Gable, of the Indiana machine works, is laid up with the mumps. He also suffers from a boil on the neck. He says he is a little disfigured, but is still in the ring.

There are several idle lathe's and planers in the Pittsburg machine shop today. The operators, some of them, attended the prize fight and haven't recovered from the excitement

Daniel Brown has resigned his position in the Standard Wheel works He is preparing to start a meat market in Hayden's new building on South Broadway, near the Wabash railroad.

Conductor, Deirick, who has had charge of the Plymouth accommodation for the past year, is today moving his family to this city. He will take a through run on the Pittsburg, and the accommodation train has been turned over to Conductor Peter C. Travis

Hoffman Bros., Diether Bros., Geake and other persons who have been using the Nickel Plate grounds adjacent to the tracks for lumber and stone yards, have been notified to vacate the premises within sixty days. The company will this summer put down double tracks from the depot to the St. Mary's river bridge.

The Pennsylvania company increased the wages of its baggage masters, baggage agents, baggage porters and ferry engineers in New York and Jersey City unexpectedly. The men were not informed of the raise until they received envelopes containing their pay for the month of March. The increase was from $5 to $10 per month.

The Railroad Gazette of April 15 contains a cut of the new passenger engines, class "Y," in use on the Big Four, which were built after specifications of E. P. Lord, formerly superintendent of motive power of the road. The Gazette speaks in complimentary terms of the engine. The engine proper weighs 129,250 pounds, with 86,300 pounds resting on the drivers

The St. Louis Chronicle yesterday printed a sensational story to the effect that the Missouri Pacific railroad is approaching a receivership or a complete re-organization involving a scaling down of the interest debt and that the company has over $1,000,000 of floating debt which is not shown in the company report estimated. The reports are credited to one of the best known commercial men of that city, who asserted that plans for reorganization were in progress and that it would not be surprising if a receiver would be asked for.

The freight traffic of the Wabash road has dropped to practically nothing. There was no train east after 9 o'clock Sunday until Monday at 10. West bound business is equally light. Nearly all the wheat on the line which will be marketed has been shipped and there was no corn raised, so that the company now handles nothing but coal, lumber, stock and merchandise

Information of the death of Mrs. J. W. Knapp reached this city yesterday, the sad affair occurring at the family residence in Hinton, W. Va. The deceased was formerly Miss Lena Sites, a school teacher whose parents resided in Monroeville. J. W. Knapp, the bereaved husband, was a trainmaster in this city twelve years ago. From here he went to Huntington and was for a time Wabash station agent at that point. When George W. Stevens became general superintendent of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, he appointed Mr. Knapp division superintendent with headquarters at Hinton. Mrs. Knapp was buried today at Peru

A. H. Polhamus has gone to Crestline to accompany the "John Bull" engine from that point to Chicago. The train will arrive in this city at noon Friday. The train crew is almost as antique as the engine and the cars. The conductor, W. T. Bailey, has been a passenger conductor since 1851. The brakemen, Jonas Hagar and Thomas Gallagher, were brakemen in 1848. The engineer, A. S. Herbert, drove the John Bull in 1852. J. W. Stanford, the fireman, was such in 1855. Car Inspector D. H. Baker, who goes along, has been foreman of the Jersey City car shops since 1849. Acting Assistant Superintendent James R. Smith, who directs the running of the train, has also been a railroad man over fifty years.

R. F. Smith, superintendent of the voluntary relief department of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, has issued his monthly bulletin for the month of March, which shows that $2,000 was disbursed in death benefits resulting from accident, and $1,000 for natural causes; in disablement benefits $7,351.25; in sickness benefits, $8,354; making the disbursements of the month $21,805.25. There were twelve deaths, 160 accident and 610 sick benefits paid during the month, making a total of 1,112 members who received benefits in March. In the forty-five months the relief department has been in operation there has been disbursed in death benefits $320,500, in disablement benefits $471,041.47, making the total disbursements up to April 1 this year, $792,201.47.

A company made up largely of railroad men has been organized to establish a furniture car line similar to the refrigerator and other railroad lines. The company will built at once 1,000 cars, sixty-four feet in length, and of the most substantial build. C. E. Wheeler, who on May 1 leaves the Lake Shore road as its car accountant, will be general manager of the line, with headquarters at Indianapolis. The cars are to be so constructed as to carry fine carriages without being taken apart. One end of the car drops out and can be used as a platform to run the carriage on the car. It is the purpose of the line to move cars promptly. For instance, if a carload of furniture is sent to San Francisco, the car can be loaded right back over either of the transcontinental lines, which often cannot be done with cars of some one of the transcontinental lines. It is expected to get the line in operation by June 1. The general manager is to be located at Indianapolis, as it is a convenient point to distribute cars from. Indiana has reached a point where it is the largest furniture manufacturing state in the union.

Spiritualism.

Madame Wesley, 41 West Washington street, the world-renowned and highly celebrated and only real, natural born trance medium in this country, born with the wonderful prophetic gift of second sight, has the power of any two mediums you have ever met. This she is prepared to prove; tells your entire life, past, present and future, in a dead trance. Every hidden mystery revealed and tells whether the one you love is true or false; tells all business affairs with almost truth; gives advice on divorce. Positively no imposition. Understands ancient Egyptian charm, working and removes evil influences; cures witchery, fits and all long standing diseases, and makes marriages with the one you love. The Madame wishes it distinctly understood that she advertises nothing but what she can do and would not be classed with the many cheap pretending found in every city. Business strictly private and confidential. Special: In writing send stamp, otherwise no attention will be paid. Send for circular. 19-2t

A Minister's Wife Much Pleased.

Elder S. S. Beaver, of McAlisterville, Juniata Co., Pa., says his wife is subject to cramp in the stomach. Last summer she tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for it, and was much pleased with the speedy relief it afforded. She has since used it whenever necessary and found that it never fails. For sale by druggists

As it is now in evidence that one-half of the whisky sold in the country is composed of alcohol and cheap essences, the problem of checking the alarming growth of crime is greatly simplified. It is now definitely known where the fighting tangle-foot comes from.

MASONIC TEMPLE.

Hanlon's "Fantasma" Tonight—Joe Jefferson Coming.

The popular and always entertaining Hanlon's "Fantasma" comes to the Temple tonight, for a two nights' engagement, with hand-ome new scenery, mechanical effects and the best of companies. The Temple will have large crowds to hear it.

It is with more than common pleasure that we record the appearance at the Masonic Temple theatre next Friday evening of the greatest comedian of our time, Mr. Joseph Jefferson, who will appear in his inimitable personation of "Rip Van Winkle." Mr. Jefferson is the greatest of living actors and has no rival on the stage today

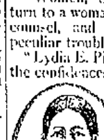

Julia, the five-months old daughter of County Treasurer Beckman died this morning at the family residence in Washington township, after a severe illness with scarlet fever. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon from the residence.

ANSON REGISTERS A KICK.

The Old Man Thinks There Will Be Too Much Bunting.

Capt. Adrian Constantine Anson did not go to New York to mingle with the magnates, and in a talk about the amendments he said: "I have no fault to find with the rules as they now stand, only this: They moved the pitcher back and they made no rule about the bunt hit. I wrote them a letter telling them of the necessity of abolishing the bunt, but they did not see fit to act on it. Well, I suppose they know their own business best, but the people will find that this habit of bunting will delay the games this season and make things generally unreliable.

"With the pitcher removed ten and a half feet further from the batter who will field the ball when it is bunted by the striker? The pitcher cannot, certainly, and the third baseman will be afraid to attempt it when a hot hit is coming at him instead of a bunt. Then there is no penalty for the foul and any batter will be enabled to throw off ball after ball or strike after strike whenever he desires to. My idea was to practically abolish the deliberate fouling of the ball by making all bunt fouls a strike. At present it is within the jurisdiction of the umpire to say just what the intention of the batter is when he strikes such a foul, and the consequence is that strikes are never inflicted as punishment even when the foul is made deliberately. I can't see how the removal of the pitcher will help the game to any extent except in the way of bunting."—Sporting Life.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR FAKING.

The Ignorance of Editors Taken Advantage Of.

If a newspaper reporter in any other department save baseball were to indulge in the gross inaccuracies of many alleged baseball writers he would be summarily bounced and tabooed by employers everywhere. This is largely due to the fact that while a large majority of the general public turn first to the sporting page of a daily newspaper when laid fresh from the press before them at the dinner or breakfast table as the case may be, the makers of many newspapers refuse to recognize that there is as much importance in the accuracy of news items and information in the sporting line as there is in any other. Fakirs spring up in every city in the land, and flood the unsophisticated baseball editor or telegraph editor with "stories" founded upon absolutely nothing and unless the man who passes upon the acceptance or declination of these "offers" knows his business and is thoroughly posted the public is liable to be imposed upon frequently, because these penny-a-liners will send anything for publication, whether it be based upon a single suspicion or upon absolutely nothing at all.—Sporting Life.

C. R. ELLIOT.

An Athlete Who Has Performed Wonderful Feats in the West.

In the far West it is customary to hold annual tournaments in different States, under the auspices of the State Firemen's Association, at which prizes are offered for hose races, running prescribed distances and laying hose, ladder climbing, coupling, etc. These yearly tournaments are found to have an excellent effect in maintaining and improving the efficiency of the departments by acting as an incentive to the members to strive for superior excellence, and they attract large crowds of people, who manifest abiding interest in the competitions. C. R. Elliott won the championship of North and South Dakota at ladder climbing, his greatest achievement in this line being a run of fifty feet, starting from pistol shot, and climbing a twenty-four foot ladder in five seconds, which feat he performed at the tourney at Sioux Falls, South Dak., June ..., 18... He has also run one hundred yards to a ladder, climbed it and slid to the bottom in fifteen seconds, calling time when he struck the ground, which is a specialty of his own. Elliott has also considerable ... reputation in the Northwest, and especially in Iowa as a sprint runner at from fifty to seventy-five yards. He has been connected with hook and ladder teams for the past eight years, was ladder man for the old Aberdeen champions for four years, and was climber for the Aberdeen ... team when they won the championship belt at Council Bluffs in 1890. He went then to Wahpeton, North Dakota, a team at which place he represented. When he won the free for all race at Fargo in June, 1891. He is now captain of a hook and ladder team at Madison, South Dakota. He has been very successful, never having made but one slip in a championship contest. He is also an expert bicyclist and he ... ments to be a ... athlete, while he ... good ... ing to sprint with any ... in the land

Our Boys' Clothing!

The beauty spot in our store is the boy's department. It is not only the increased skill the wider selections and the uniformly low prices, but the originality and beauty of our exclusive designs that are telling in our favor with accumulating power. The approaching season has many surprises in store for seekers after Boy's Perfect Clothing. Our strength will be demonstrated not only in the elegant and higher priced Suits, but also in good wear-resisting and knock-about kind, at $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50, $4, $4.50 and $5, the variety of which will be far greater than any one will stay to look at.

We Have No Competition!

So to speak, in Boy's Clothing. The best our competitors can claim for their stock is that it is not as good as ours. [illegible] not to be wondered at that so few people take them at their word.

Parents and Guardians

Have always looked to us for the NEW Things, the BRIGHT things and the RIGHT Things in Boys' Wear. [illegible] Clothing for their boys at a POPULAR LOW PRICE and [illegible] spring without a detailed description.

Some of [illegible] largest stock of Boys' Clothing than any other dealer in the state.

Mr. Holland, of Cincinnati, who has been the guest of Miss Theo. Cornell, has returned home.

Miss Jesse Rudisill, who has been the guest of Mrs. Frank Smick for several weeks, will leave for her home in Louisville, Ky., the latter part of the week.

The Ladies' Aid society of the United Brethren church will meet at the home of Mrs. J. P. Seville, 115 East DeWald street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m.

Mrs. [illegible] Heller and Miss Bella Johnson left this morning for Peru to attend the funeral of Mrs. Knapp, who was formerly Miss Lannie Stiver, and had many friends in this city.

Mrs. Thomas A. Wall and daughter Petronella yesterday for Dayton, Ohio, to visit relatives for several weeks. Joseph Wall, formerly of this city, but now of Wabash, will accompany them.

Mrs. G. W. Pixley entertained the ladies of the Congregational church at her home last evening and arranged matters for a farewell social to be held at the church next week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Mounsey are the guests of their daughters, Mrs. Otto Patterson and Miss Adah Mounsey, of Breckenridge street. Mr. Alex Patterson, of Warsaw, is also their guest.

The east division of the Ladies' Aid society, of the Church of Christ, will give a ten cent social Thursday evening, at the residence of Mrs. Lucky, corner of Wallace and Gay streets. Bring your friends.

The marriage of Mr. Alberta Fox to Miss Anna Pranger took place yesterday at St. Mary's Catholic church. A large reception was tendered the bride and groom immediately after the ceremony, at 410 East Washington street.

The Foreign Missionary society of the Wayne street M. E. church will meet Friday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. D. L. Harding on West DeWald street. Mrs. M. V. B. Spencer will read a paper entitled, "She Hath Done What She Couldn't," and Mesdames Mary Alden, D. L. Harding and B. V. Sweringen will also take part in the program.

The many pretty articles displayed at the booths at the Rifles fair and the interest in the exciting contests continue to attract crowds to the armory. Last evening the Misses Etta and Ethel Hill delighted the attendants with a piano and violin duet, and Master J. B. McEvoy was roundly applauded after playing two cornet solos. The military boys are giving fine entertainments every night and they should be given the patronage of the public.

Last evening a wedding which was a surprise to the many friends of the bride and groom took place at the parsonage of the Berry street M. E. church. The groom was Mr. Frank Green, an employe of Root & Co's, and the bride, Miss Etta Smith. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by the Rev. M. S. Marble, in the presence of a few friends. Mr. and Mrs. Green will go immediately to housekeeping in a nicely furnished home on East Wayne street.

The 6 o'clock dinner given last evening by Mrs. Dreier at her home on West Berry street in honor of Miss Stella Manville, of Cleveland, was a very pretty affair and the guests were delightfully entertained. White carnations and asparagus fern decked the table and covers were laid for ten. Those present were Miss Stella Manville, of Cleveland, Misses Anna Robertson and Hannah Every, Col. and Mrs. R. S. Robertson, Mrs. G. W. Seavey, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Guild and Mr. W. H. Shambaugh.

The marriage of Miss Lizzie Kletz and Mr. Joseph Forche occurred yesterday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Peter's Catholic church, the Rev. Father Messman officiating. The bride was attended by Miss Lizzie Forche, [illegible] of Adrian, Mich., and the groom's attendant was Mr. [illegible], the bride's brother. A reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Forche last evening at the home of the bride's parents, 500 South Calhoun street. Among the guests from abroad were Misses Lizzie and Mary Forche and Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich, of Adrian, Mich.

A very pretty wedding was that which took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bowen, 220 East Washington street, when their daughter, Miss Alberta, became the wife of Mr. James C. Barrett, of Chicago. As the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Professor Rudisill, announced that the wedding hour was at hand, the bridal party entered the south parlor, where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. W. Moffat, of the First Presbyterian church. Miss Evelyn Archibald, the little niece of the bride, attired in a dainty white gown, headed the bridal procession and scattered flowers in the bride's pathway. Following her came the bride costumed in a beautiful gown of white India silk with lace trimmings and carrying a bouquet of roses. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lillie Bowen, who wore a gown of silver gray satin trimmed in steel passementerie. The groom's attendant was Mr. Charles Pfeiffer, of this city. After receiving congratulations the bride and groom led the way to the dining room, where the wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Barrett left last night for Chicago, where they will reside.

A BEAUTIFUL WOMAN!

The SHILLING CORSET

LOUIS WOLF & CO.

Have the [illegible] and [illegible] is valuable information for the ladies as there is nothing more desirable than a good fitting corset.

It is a Conceded Fact

That the Corset is a great factor in making a BEAUTIFUL WOMAN than any other garment or article she wears therefore too much attention cannot be paid to its selection.

TO DO THIS [illegible] absolutely needed to [illegible] the question: What Corset shall I buy? What Corset [illegible]? What Corset will do me the most service? And more important than all, what Corset will give me the [illegible] FASHIONABLE CONTOUR?

IN ANSWER to the above question we will state that our Corset Department is managed by ladies of experience and if you don't know what corset to buy, they can tell you the correct style and if not satisfactory the purchase money will be cheerfully refunded.

AMERICAN LADY is the name of a superior corset which is by far the best fitting corset made for a slenderly built lady, they come in Black, White and Gray, and the prices are from $1.00 to $2.50. If they are given a trial by a long waisted lady they will never wear any other.

We extend a cordial invitation to the ladies of Fort Wayne and vicinity to call and see the largest and handsomest line of Best Fitting Corsets. N. B.—We have two experienced ladies in this department that fit corsets if so desired.
